that we're modest in our claim. To begin with, we buy and sell annually more fancy Dress Goods than all the other dry goods stores in the city combined, therefore while others have to content themselves with a sprinkling of good things for the coming season, our huge stock embraces them all, barring a few of the more outrageous things which could not be sold in this locality at any price. Of Course, You'd Like Us to Speak About the New Weaves, Etc.

Generally speaking, smooth finished fabrics will be most in demand when rough effects are introduced. They come in such pronounced noveltles as loose string weaves, etc., and will undoubtedly find favor with people of extreme taste. Little checks in many a curious way, and pretty hues have also taken a strong hold on public favor, while metallic effects in Repps, New Persians and other creations of the loom for this season's wear are strikingly beautiful. In the plainer weaves some charming ingrain tone harmonies are produced, and the Berges (not at all like those you used to see) are as fresh in their loveliness as budding Spring itself. Athens, Feb. 23.-A dispatch to the Asty from Canea says that the foreign warships are now rigorously blockading the coast of Crete. The British torpedo boats are especially active, rapidly steaming along the coast and keeping a sharp lookout to prevent the landing of troops, provisions or munitions of war. Many vessels have been stopped by the blockading fleets and not allowed to proceed until they satisfactorily proved that they were en-gaged in legitimate business. So strict s the blockade that the carrying of letters to the Piracus from the force of Colonel Vassos, the commander of the Greek army of occupation, is prohibited, the wildest speculation as to what the final outcome will be. The people are deeply incensed against the powers for their intervention in Crete, and their in court and government circles, King George today issued a proclamation that is intended to cool the popular passions and thus avert what might prove a national crisis. He enjoins the country to be calm and dignified and to confide in the government, which, he says, is doing everything possible to uphold the honor of Greece and maintain the rights of the Hellenic

MORE PRAISE FOR HAY.

London Times Congratulates McKinley on His Selection.

London, Feb. 23-The Times, in an editorial this morning, comments upon the announcement that Colonel John Hay had been selected to be the successor of Ambassador Bayard, and expresses the opinion that Colonel Hay will maintain the high standard so remarkable in a succession of ministers. The Times says he will be all the more warmly and readily welcomed owing to the fact that he is already well known to many Englishmen. It congratulates President-elect McKinley upon choosing a man who is neither a politician nor a successful business man. That journal then expresses regret at what it fears is the deliberate "wreeking of the Anglo-American arbitration by the United States senate."

Nevertheless, as the published statements are not that General Lee has resigned, but that his resignation will be received by the next mail, there were doubts as to whether serious friction had not arisen between the state department and the consul general. This feeling was somehow increased by guarded remarks made by well informed officials that General Lee was a little inclined to be "hot headed." There was a general undercurrent of suggestion rather than of statement that when our minister at Madrid, and the consul general at Havana was directed to make "peremptory demands" upon Spain and those demands were not complied with by the Spanish authorities, the United States did not appear in a dignified light, when it had no force at hand to back up its requirements.
